

I signed up for the do not call and was still bothered by tons of calls from businesses. I finally had to change my phone number! An person's request should be respected and if they do not want businesses to know their phone number or keep calling, the request should be respected.